I am very upset that UNLV is being forced out of their new stadium by the Raiders. Now UNLV will have to maintain an old stadium with critically short educational funds in case the Raider's want to use the new venue for something like a concert. Not a very good sign of how they will support UNLV in the future, What happened to all the media coverage that UNLV was controlling this process? How about requiring the Raiders to pay for the maintenance of Sam Boyd? I think that would be a nice gesture?
